

Environment preservation is no longer a matter of welfare or luxury but it actually has developed into a issue on which depends the ability of the Egyptian citizen to lead a secure life and to enjoy good health that enables him to produce and innovate.

Maintaining clean, proper and sound environment is one of the key requirements for keeping the citizen safe and guaranteeing high-quality Egyptian product.

An excerpt from the government's statement delivered by Prime Minister Dr. Ahmed Nazif before the People's Assembly in December 2006.
